

Child Forensic Interviewing: Introduction to the RADAR Interview Protocol

Monday, September 28, 2015 – Thursday, October 1, 2015

The Lambuth Inn
Lake Junaluska Conference & Retreat Center
Lake Junaluska, NC

Event #46350cas

Program Description: Child forensic interviewing in cases of alleged abuse has become an increasingly specialized field. Part of the specialization is the development and use of research-based, structured interview protocols. The four-day workshop provides an introduction to the RADAR interview protocol. RADAR (Recognizing Abuse Disclosure types and Responding) is a research-based, best practices protocol for interviewing children (5 years and older) and adolescents who are being assessed for possible sexual or physical abuse. RADAR is structured to ensure interview quality and ease of learning, while offering enough flexibility to be effective with children of differing ages and disclosure histories. RADAR is adapted in part from the NICHD Investigative Interview Protocol. The workshop includes hands-on role-play practice as well as a required reading assignment of three articles.

Target Audience

This workshop is appropriate for beginning as well as experienced child forensic interviewers, mental health professionals including psychologists, DSS Child Protective Service workers, therapists, case managers, law enforcement, child advocacy professionals and other professionals who wish to improve their skills in interviewing.

Objectives

At the conclusion of this activity, participants should be able to:

1. Describe how to use the RADAR interview protocol in interviewing children about sexual and physical abuse.
2. Develop a familiarity with the RADAR protocol through hands-on role-play practice.
3. Apply these skills in daily practice.
